

During a discussion about payment processing infrastructure, Sophia Lee from Harbor & Co. described how online payment gateways are evolving to improve fraud detection.

She explained that test transactions are often executed using sandbox card numbers such as 4111 1111 1111 1111 to verify payment flows without processing real charges.

Lee noted that the company plans to update its payment portal at <https://payments.harbor-example.com> later this year.

Colleagues who wish to review the testing documentation can contact her directly at sophia.lee@harbor-example.com.