International Survey on Revenue Administration

The survey uses common questions and definitions developed collaboratively by international organizations, to provide comparable information on tax administration

A survey providing annual data on tax administration at the national-level; data are collected through an on-line survey

The survey relies on

- voluntary participation and
- self-reporting by tax administrations

ISORA is the product of a partnership of the Asian Development Bank (ADB), Inter-American Center of Tax Administrations (CIAT), IMF, Intra-European Organisation of Tax administrations (IOTA) and OECD – and the active participation of tax administrations around the world

What does ISORA 2025 cover?

- ISORA 2025 comprises questions about the characteristics, practices and performance of tax administrations in Fiscal Year 2024.

Forms
A	Introduction	This form needs to be completed first. Answers to these questions determine which questions need to be answered in Forms B, E, F and G.
B	Revenue
C	Expenditure and human resources
D	Human Resource Information
E	Taxpayer segments
F	Operational metrics	Note: there is a change to Q3 from the previous round.
G	Taxpayer and other stakeholder interactions	Note: there is a new “yes/no” question on payment channels.

ISORA data collection platform users

There are three kinds of users:

- The *coordinator coordinates their administrations' ISORA response. Their main roles are:
 - Agreement to the Terms and Conditions for participants in ISORA 2025
 - Completion and certification of Form A
 - Optionally: the assignment and registration of correspondents to complete the forms B, C, D, E, F or G
 - Certifying all forms, once no further editing of the forms is needed by correspondents
- Correspondents complete forms for which they are assigned responsibility, on the RA-FIT platform.
 - Correspondents generally have expertise in the subject matter covered in the form (or forms) to which they are assigned.
 - An administration can have any number of correspondents, and correspondents may be assigned responsibility for more than one form.
- Superusers assist the set of administrations they are supporting. They can:
 - View all forms for the administrations they support, and hence assist coordinators or correspondents;
 - Change the status of forms from 'certified' to 're-edit', so that a coordinator or correspondent can amend entered data after certifying the form.

How to access the ISORA data collection platform

- The ISORA data collection platform is accessed through a browser at <https://datacollection.rafit.org>.
- Coordinators and correspondents are invited to register as users of the ISORA data collection platform.
 - All users will receive an email from eProvision@imf.org explaining how to register (see next page).
 - Users will be asked to enter their Registered Email Address. This email address will be used to log in to the data collection portal.
 - The link provided is active for only seven days. If you are unable to register within seven days of receipt of the email, please follow instructions provided for resetting your password.
 - Using the link in the email and the instructions, users will receive a confirmation number and a new password reset link from IMFConnect@imf.org. This will enable users to set a password of their choice that meets the security requirements. Users will then be able to log in using their registered email and password.

Note:

1.Note: Chrome is the preferred browser for RA-FIT.

2.Coordinators, correspondents and super users should NOT ever click the ‘REGISTER’ button (this is for surveys other than ISORA). They should use only the ‘SIGN IN’ button

The ISORA 2025 survey instrument

- The ISORA 2025 survey is designed to collect information on tax administration for the fiscal year 2024.

Form A. Introduction

The purpose of this form is to establish the areas of responsibility for your administration.

Information from this form will be used automatically to enable questions in other forms, so this form needs to be saved and certified to unlock the other forms.

All questions relate to the fiscal year in question, unless otherwise indicated.

For general instructions to complete the form, see here.

To find your administration's responses in previous years to Form A questions, see ReviewTables_ISORA2024-\(1\).xlsx, Tables A.1 to A.4.

For ISORA concepts and definitions, see here.

Q1) Indicate the revenue types or categories for which the administration has responsibility

a) Personal income tax ☐

Personal income tax: This category covers taxes levied on all income including wages / salaries, dividends, interest and other income (e.g. from rental or other business) a person earns throughout the year, including cases where tax is withheld.

b) Corporate income tax ☐

c) Value added taxes ☐

Value added taxes: A value-added tax (VAT) is a tax on goods or services based on 'value-added' and collected by VAT registrants. Check if you collected a value-added tax, even if known by another name.

d) Excises (domestic) Do not select if customs is responsible for domestic excise collection. ☐

Domestic excises are taxes levied on a predefined limited range of domestic goods such as liquor/alcohol, tobacco, and energy.

e) Other taxes ☐

Other taxes: This category includes all taxes other than the tax specified in a), b), c) and d). Taxes are compulsory contribution to government revenue, rather than payments for specific services; payment for services would generally be classified as non-tax revenues. Do not include revenues collected by customs.

i) Motor vehicle taxes ☐

ii) Real property taxes ☐

Real property tax refers to taxes on land or anything permanent attached thereto.

iii) Wealth taxes ☐

iv) Estate, inheritance and similar other taxes ☐

v) Taxes on goods and services other than value added taxes ☐

vi) Other taxes (not included in i) to v) above) ☐

f) Social security contributions ☐

Social security contributions: All compulsory payments that confer an entitlement to receive a (contingent) future social benefit, including: (a) employers' social security contributions (SSCs); (b) employees' SSCs; and (c) SSCs paid by independent entrepreneurs and non-employed persons.

g) Non-tax revenues ☐

Non-tax revenues: These refer to revenue that the administration collects, that is not a tax revenue or a social security contribution, e.g. fees for services, licences for the use of natural resources. Do not include customs revenues.

Q2) Do employers withhold taxes on behalf of salaried employees, e.g. PAYE? ☐ Yes ☐ No

PAYE (Pay-as-you-earn): A tax payment method by which an employer is required to deduct income tax (and SSCs if applicable) from an employee's taxable salary or wages and remit the amount promptly to government. Hence, amounts of personal income tax are paid as they are earned. In some countries, withheld amounts are treated as a final tax, thereby eliminating the need for (some) salary and wage earners to file annual income tax returns. Check Personal income tax (Q1 a) if you answered 'yes' to this question.

Q3) a) Does your administration have a large taxpayer office or a large taxpayer program? ☐ Yes ☐ No

Large Taxpayers make significant tax payments and account, in aggregate, for a large proportion of total tax revenue. Countries tend to define large taxpayers by reference to: annual sales/turnover; annual income; value of assets; level of imports or exports; amount of tax paid; and/or type of economic sector (e.g. financial services or mining sector).

b) Does your administration have an office or program to manage High Net Wealth Individual taxpayers? ☐ Yes ☐ No

High Net Wealth Individuals (HNWIs) refer to individuals at the top of the wealth or income scale, usually defined by specific criteria determined by a country. Some HNWIs pose significant challenges to tax administrations through their use of tax planning schemes and offshore investments.

How to complete and certify forms

- When the form is opened for the first time, the actions “Save”, “Print” and “Exit” are available.
 - When the form is saved:
 - Calculations and validations are performed, using the data entered.
 - Inconsistencies in numerical data entered will be flagged in error messages shown in red at the top of the form, e.g., expenditure on salaries cannot exceed the total operational expenditure.
 - Missing data will also be flagged in error messages.
 - You can print the form at any time.
 - The forms work best if printed in landscape.
 - Printing the completed form in pdf is useful for keeping a record of your administration’s survey response.
 - You can exit the form at any time, after saving.
 - You can later open the form to continue editing.
 - All questions need to be answered, unless they are greyed out. Some questions are enabled by a response to a previous question.
 - The form can be certified when the form has been saved without errors.
 - When all data has been entered and error messages are all cleared, the certify button is enabled.
 - Data may be edited repeatedly, to eliminate errors, prior to certification. Every time the form is saved, calculations and validations are repeated with the latest data.
 - Where numerical data are not available you may enter a ‘D’.
 - This means that the figure is not known.
 - ‘D’ should not be confused with zero, which would mean that the figure is equal to zero.
 - A ‘D’ should be entered as a last resort, e.g. you cannot provide data matching the underlying definition.
 - Once the form is certified, no further editing is possible, unless an administrator (this could be a super user) places the form in re-edit mode.
- Note:
You can ask a supercoordinator to open the form for ‘re-edit’ if an error is found after certifying.

The four types of questions and formats of data in ISORA 2025 forms

1) Radio buttons :

These are used where the response is either 'yes' or 'no', or where one of several options needs to be selected. from various categories. Only one of the buttons can be selected.

Do employers withhold taxes on behalf of salaried employees, e.g. PAYE? ☐ Yes ☐ No

2) Check boxes:

These can be checked independently of any other checkboxes. The checking of a check box may also open new questions.

The four types of questions and formats of data in ISORA 2025 forms (Cont'd)

3) Numerical data :

Numerical data includes numbers (or counts), local currency values, and percentages. These figures should be entered as follows:

- Counts/numbers (e.g., numbers of FTEs) should be entered without decimals. Only digits should be entered, i.e., no decimal points, no commas, no spaces.
- Local currency figures (e.g., expenditures) must be recorded in local currency, in 000's (in thousands), rounding up or down as required. For example, where an actual revenue or expenditure figure is $ 645,985,671, it should be input as 645986. Only digits should be entered, i.e., no decimal points, no commas, no spaces.
- Percentages (e.g., percentage of FTEs working on headquarter functions) should be entered with up to two decimal points, using a '.' to denote the decimal point, without a percentage sign. For example, if 0.25 is entered, 0.25% will be recorded; if 25.32 is entered, 25.32% will be recorded; if 25 is entered, 25% will be recorded.

The four types of questions and formats of data in ISORA 2025 forms (Cont'd)

4) Free text:

Free text may be entered in the comment boxes at the end of each form. The text boxes can be used to explain data provided in the form, especially if there have been changes since the previous survey that affect responses (e.g. a change in fiscal year)

Introduction comments (if you wish to clarify or add to any of your above responses)

A large, empty rectangular text box with a thin black border, intended for entering introduction comments. It is located on the right side of a light blue shaded area.

Important notes for completing questions to be given in local currency units

- All responses in local currency units are to be provided in thousands of local currency units, e.g., $ 34 567 987 is recorded as 34568.
- This is indicated on all questions that require an answer in currency units. Across all the forms, questions requiring response in this format are in red texts.
- In Form B the total revenue to GDP ratio is calculated to assist with checking the revenue figures entered.

A.Total net revenue as percent of GDP

Q2) Total net revenue as percent of Gross Domestic Product

The ratio of total net revenue to Gross Domestic Product is calculated to provide a rough check on the net revenue figures: if the ratio is smaller or larger than expected, one or more revenue figures may not have been stated in thousands of local currency units.

- A “D” may be entered if the amount in currency is not known (or not available).
 - A “D” does NOT mean zero/0.
 - A zero should NOT be used to denote a missing response.

Example:

- If you enter a figure of ‘0’ for VAT on imports, this means that no revenue was collected from VAT on imports.
- If you enter ‘D’ for VAT on imports, this means that there was revenue collected, but the amount of revenue collected is not known.

Using a team to complete ISORA: registering correspondents

A coordinator may assign the completion of forms other than Form A to various correspondents. The starting point can be reached from either the RA-FIT home page, or the opening page for ISORA.

Guidance on completing the ISORA 2025 forms if there is more than one person working on the forms

- More than one correspondent can be assigned to work on the same form:
 - However, more than one person should not work on the same form at the same time.
 - When one person saves the form, while others are working on it, the edits made by others may be lost.
- Considering the length and content of the ISORA 2023 forms, forms F and G are likely to be forms for which it is beneficial to assign more than one correspondent. The periodic forms E-P, F-P and G-P also cover a range of topics, and it may also be useful to assign more than one correspondent to these forms.
- Administrations that complete the survey the earliest are often those that enter data as they receive it and do not aim to complete the forms in sequence, and make use of correspondents.
- Reminder on the order of completing of forms:
 - Form A must be completed and certified before any other forms for that fiscal year can be opened.
 - You may complete the remaining forms in any order. After Form A is completed and certified, all the other forms may be opened and worked on in any order. These forms may also be certified in any order.
